

Nine expert reports on natural gas drilling were commissioned by Delaware Riverkeeper Network (DRN) and Damascus Citizens for Sustainability (DCS) in legal proceedings before the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC) challenging the DRBC's decision to "grandfather" a number of vertical "exploratory" wells rather than require them to undergo environmental review by the DRBC to ensure the protection of the Delaware River Basin watershed. Another five expert reports were commissioned by the DRBC to defend their decision to regulate these wells.

The reports are available on DRN's website at http://www.delawariverkeeper.org/resources/Reports/DRN_DCS_Expert_Reports.pdf

http://www.delawariverkeeper.org/resources/Reports/DRBC_Expert_Reports_Gas.pdf

