

Community Scientist Surveys for Freshwater Mussels of the Paulins Kill River in collaboration with the Delaware Riverkeeper Network (August & September 2019)

photo by Erik Silldorff

Our Inspiration: “Pearly” Mussels of the Paulins Kill 2019/08/24

photo © Robert L. Limbeck

2019/08/24

photo © Robert L. Limbeck

Our Teams: Bob, Faith, Frank, Dave, Madelee, & Erik (8.24.2019)

Our Teams: Sue & Melissa (8.28.2019)

Our Teams: Karen, Ed, Norman, Bob, Gene & Eric (8.30.2019)

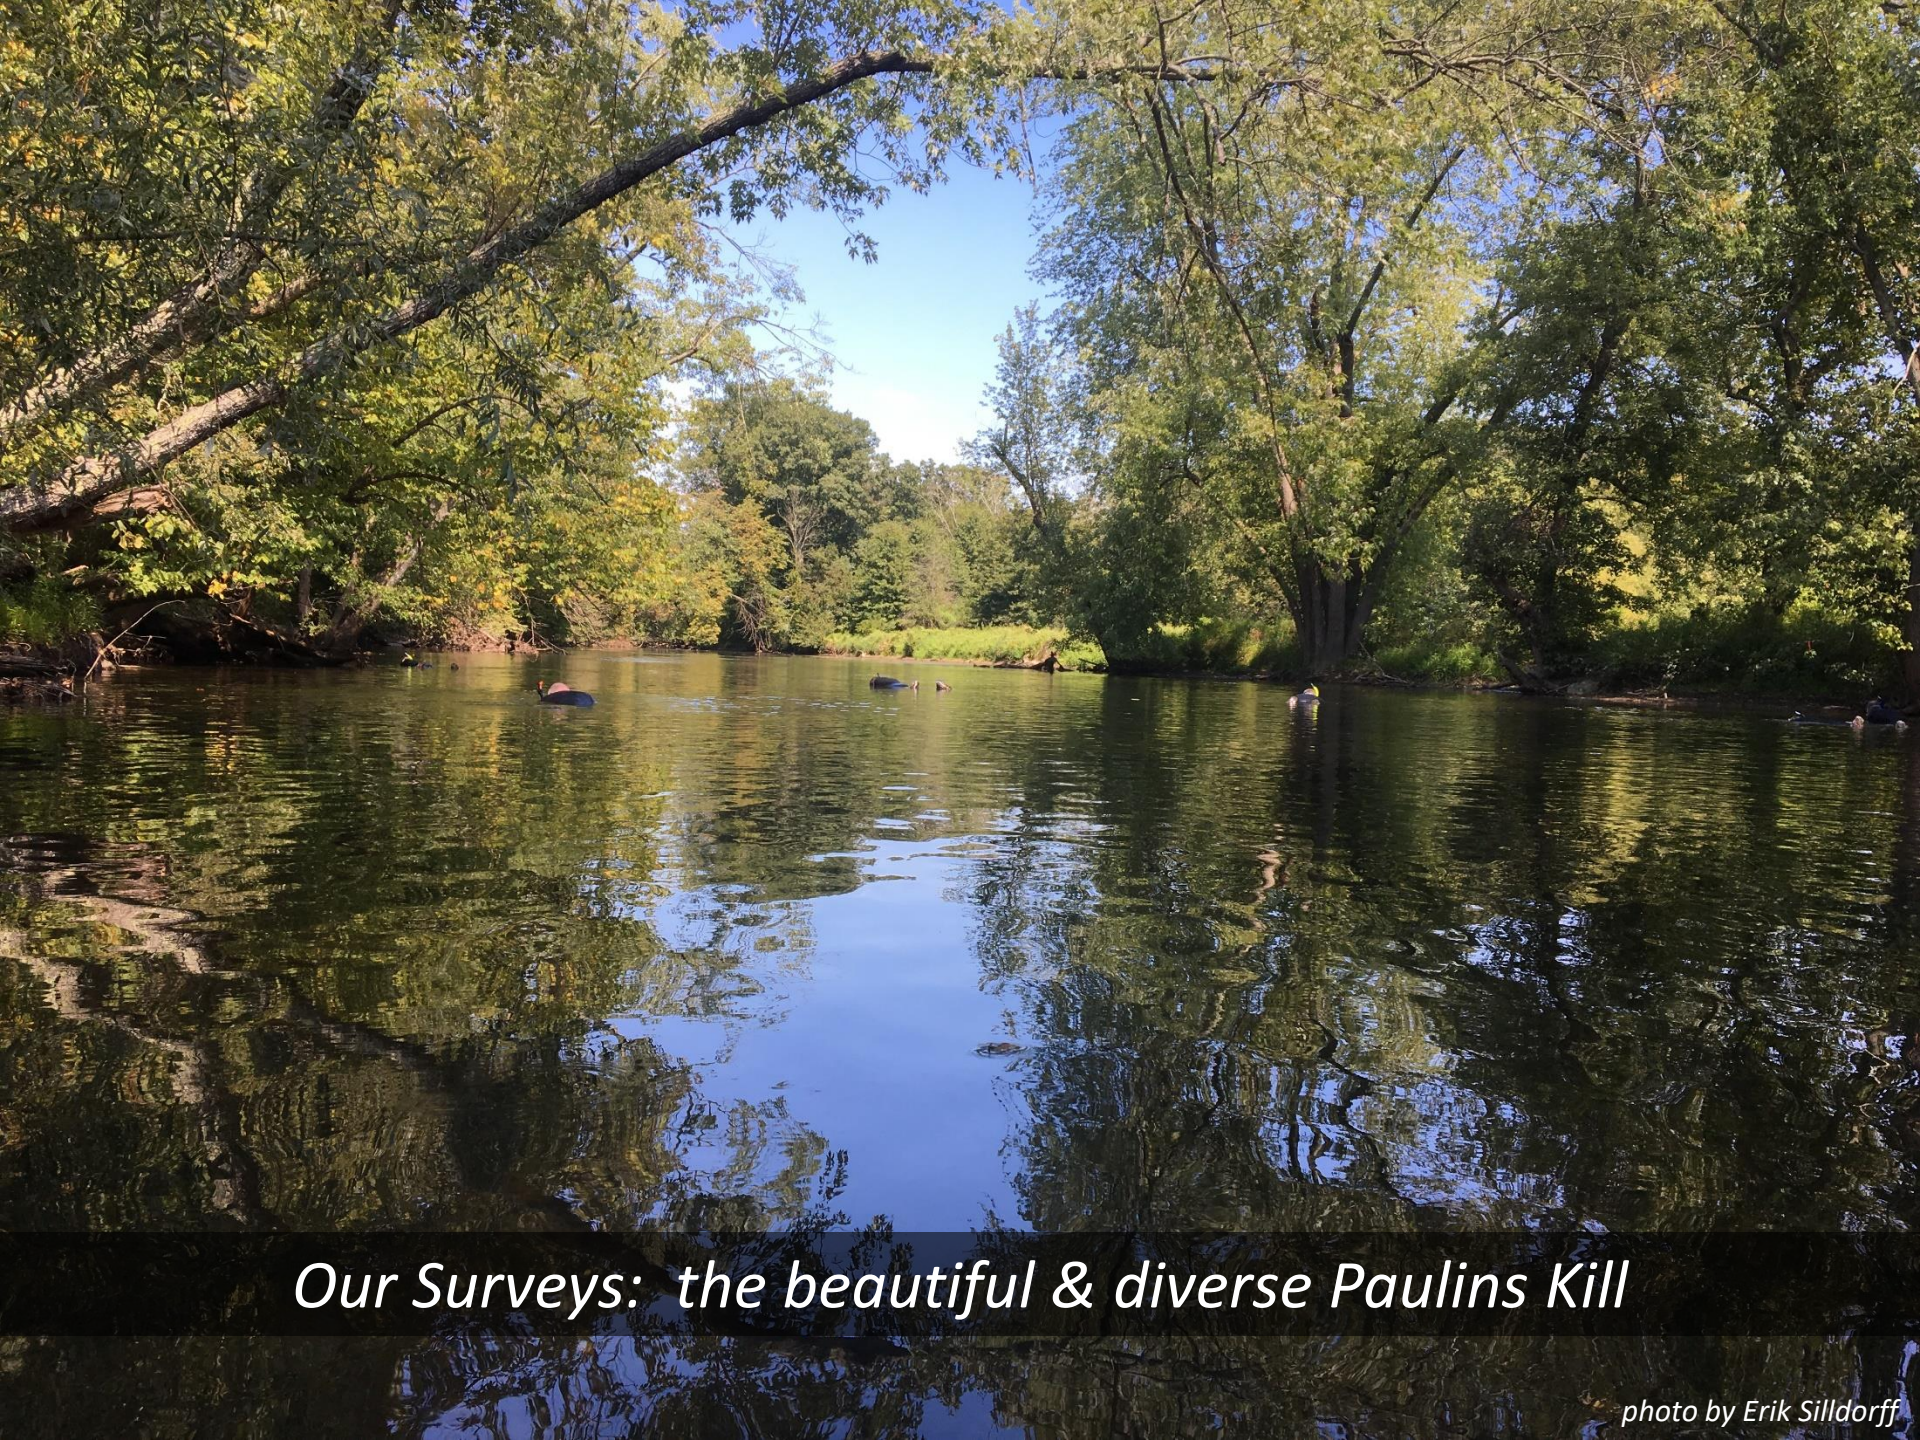

Our Teams: Erik, Jack, & Sarah (9.7.2019)

photo by Erik Silldorff

Our Teams: Eric, Thomas, & Erik (9.8.2019)

Our Surveys: the beautiful & diverse Paulins Kill

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

photo by Erik Silldorff

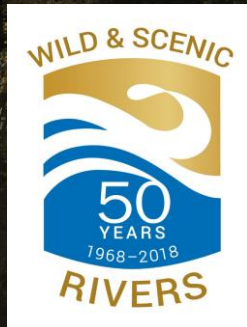

Our Thanks!!

First and foremost, to the amazing and wonderful scientists who shared their time, energy, and skills to help survey the current status of Paulins Kill “pearly” mussels!

Our Thanks!!

Funding: This project is supported by grants from the Lower Delaware Wild & Scenic Committee, with support from the National Park Service (www.lowerdelawarewildandscenic.org), and from the National Park Foundation, with support from the Coca-Cola Foundation.

Swim Splash Smile

